

Closed Shop' For Lawyers Ruled Out By State Court

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court today announced new rules which forbid county bar associations to set up "closed shops" for attorneys.

In some parts of the state, only attorneys with a specified residence in a county could practice law in the courts of that county.

The high court issued a special per curiam (by the whole court) order which said:

"Any and all local rules for admission to the respective bars to the courts of the several counties of this commonwealth which prescribe length of residence in that county as a prerequisite for admission to the local bar or limit the number of admissions upon a quota basis are hereby superseded."

The order was contained in an addition to the rules of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, effective March 23. The order declared admission to Supreme Court practice shall entitle any attorney to admission to the bar of any other court of this commonwealth, subject only to the right of the examining board of the county in which the application for admission to the bar is filed to pass upon the applicant's moral character.

The court also provided that in a case where an otherwise qualified applicant is denied admission to the bar because of the lack of adequate moral requisites, he shall have a right to a hearing before the county examining board. Provision is made for the right to appeal to the state board of examiners.

DR. KEEFAUVER IS SPEAKER FOR SOROPTIMISTS

Twenty-four members of the local Soroptimist club and guests attended their monthly dinner held at Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church Tuesday evening. Mrs. Frederic Griest, president, served as toastmaster and Mrs. Wayne M. Keet gave the grace. The tables were decorated in spring flowers in the club's colors of blue and gold. Mrs. D. F. Segal led group singing with Mrs. George F. Eberhart at the piano.

Following the Federation topic for the month of March, Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver spoke on "Educational Vitality." He stated that living in a dynamic social order required a dynamic system of education to keep up with it and that it was the purpose of educational authorities to try to keep educational thinking on the same level as science. He reminded the group that education is broader and wider than the door to any school, that it begins at birth and ends at death. He stated that schools seek to instill democratic thinking to lead to a democratic way of life and he said they sometimes think perhaps the old hickory stick was more effective than "soft-coated pedagogy."

Praises Local System

He said "the main need in Gettysburg and Adams county is for buildings." He said 3,600,000 more children were born in 1937 than in 1933 and the influx will hit the schools in 1954 when they will be bursting at the seams. By 1958 high schools will be inadequate. There is a shortage now of elementary teachers, not enough people are taking up educational work, he added.

Dr. Keefauver said, "We can be proud of our local system, being one of the first to be accredited in the Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges and in which we have a high rating. We can be proud locally of our teacher preparation as we have a high percentage of teachers with master's degrees. Last year there were 62½ in our high school and there are only four teachers in Gettysburg without that degree. Many of the teachers have served here for years, and there is a good ratio of men to women in what is often called 'a feminized profession.'"

The club has received an invitation to the third anniversary dinner of the Lancaster club March 29 at the Stevens house. The April dinner will observe Boy and Girls Week and Mrs. Fred Faber is chairman.

TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL DINNER OF PSEA UNIT

One hundred and thirty-five county school teachers and their guests attended the annual spring banquet of the county PSEA branch Wednesday evening at the Arendtsville school cafeteria.

Changes in the school system during the past half century were outlined by Harvey W. Schwartz, Littlestown teacher, who this year is completing 50 years of service as a teacher in Adams county. His reminiscences were the principal talk of the evening.

C. P. Keefe pronounced the invocation and Arthur Gordon, president of the county PSEA, presided. State Senator Donald P. McPherson, Jr., and Assemblyman and Mrs. Francis Worley were guests of the association for the program.

In a brief talk Mr. Worley declared that many people in public office need to be educated in democracy. "Democracy means government by all of the people," he declared. "In a real democracy, the people's representatives can't be the instruments of any one group. Too much of our government is catering to special groups because of financial or other support that has been given to their party. The Democrats cater too much to labor interests and the Republicans to the manufacturers. This is causing an oligarchy to operate with the machinery of a democracy."

Winners at cards included Charles Briggs, Miss Carrie Miller, Gerald Orndorff and Lottie Hulick. The committee in charge of the program included Lewis Bosserman, chairman; Mrs. Lolita Charles, Miss Evelyn Orner, Miss Virginia Troxell, Wilson Wenk, Bruce Sheets and Francis Coulson.

APRIL 6 IS NEW JAIL SALE DATE

The Adams county commissioners Wednesday set April 6 at 2 p. m. as the time for public sale of the old Adams county jail.

The action follows the recommendation of the Adams county court when it handed down a decision last week refusing a petition of the commissioners to sell the property at private sale to the Adams County Free library. At that time the court asked that the sale be held as quickly as possible. A check made with the commissioners' attorney Wednesday showed April 6 to be the earliest date on which a sale can be held due to the necessity of properly advertising the sale.

Most Borrow $10,000 As part of its action the commissioners voted to return to the library the $1,800 that had been posted by the board of directors of the library association when they made a bid of $9,000 for the property.

The commissioners also voted to pay $75 toward the burial of a veteran and a similar amount toward the burial of a World War I veteran's widow.

They found that they will have to borrow $10,000 to carry the county through until the new taxes start pouring in. It was explained that the temporary loan is necessary at this time because of the large expenditures needed in connection with the building of the county jail. Under ordinary circumstances, the commissioners pointed out, there is a sufficient balance left at the end of the year to keep the county operating without borrowing, until the new taxes are collected.

Borough police at 8 o'clock Wednesday night were called by a motorist who had his automobile parked next to the curb in front of the Blue Parrot tea room on Chambersburg street, and could not drive away because of another car parked double.

District Attorney Teeter Will Reply April 11 To Robert Staley's Petition Asserting Ray Simmons Was 'Too Drunk' To Attack And Kill H. L. Humpert

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter has until April 11 to answer to the Pennsylvania Supreme court, a petition recently signed by Robert L. Staley now serving a life sentence for the murder of Herbert L. Humpert, alleging that Ray H. Simmons, his condemned accomplice, was "too drunk" and did not attack the victim on the night of the robbery-slaying.

Staley alleges that he scuffled with Humpert in the latter's barn and that Simmons was too drunk to leave the car.

Staley's petition came after the Supreme court on January 11 refused Simmons' appeal for a new trial.

The following is a resume of the sensational case:

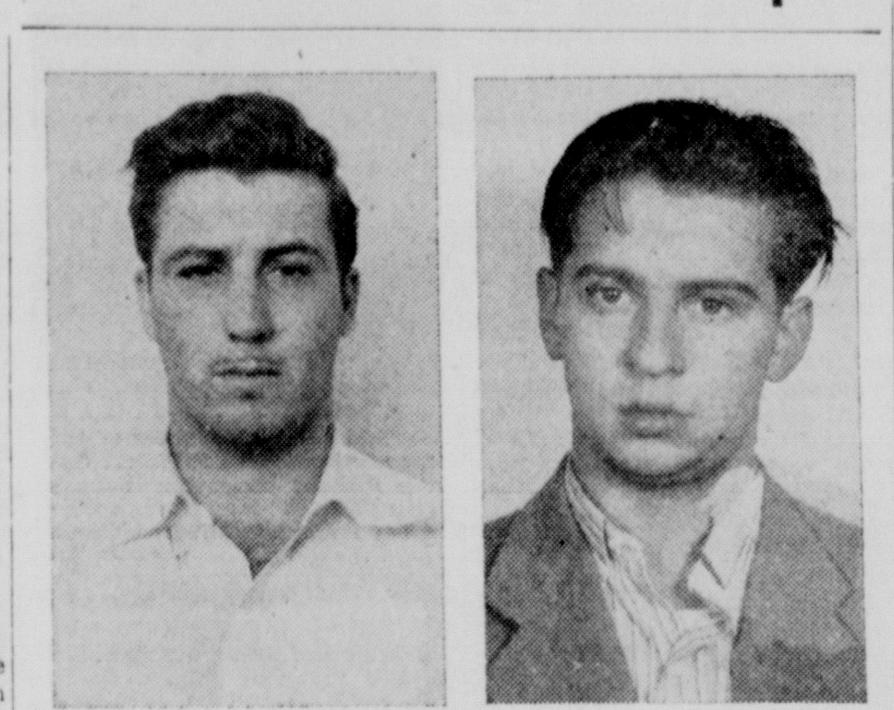

Did Herbert L. Humpert, Tyrone township farmer, come to his death at the hands of Ray H. Simmons or Robert L. Staley? Did he fall down a hay hole in his barn on the night of March 24, 1947, or within a short time thereafter, receiving the injuries which caused his death? Or did a mule inflict the lethal blows?

Defense Assertion

The trail of events leading from the discovery of Humpert's body in a feed entry in his barn near Peach Glen, March 26, 1947, through the arrest of Simmons and Staley, their trials and convictions on murder charges, the sentencing of Simmons to the electric chair and Staley to life imprisonment, to the recent statement by Staley that Simmons could not have been the killer because he was "dead drunk," might pose these questions to those who have followed the course of these events.

The defense made much of the fact at the Simmons trial that Robert L. Staley (left), serving life sentence for murder of Herbert L. Humpert, signs petition declaring his condemned accomplice, Ray H. Simmons (right), was "too drunk" to attack victim on the night of the robbery-slaying.

Humpert "might" have fallen through the hay hole. The jury was taken to the Humpert farm to see it. Simmons testified that he was too drunk, and did not remember anything of what "might have happened" at the Humpert farm.

Staley's inference that Humpert

Here And There News Collected At Random

In some 76,000 churches in the United States representing practically every Christian denomination and communion a simultaneous offering will be taken Sunday morning to "rebuild the spiritual and material world of all men, women and children in war torn countries of Europe and Asia . . . to show these people that Christians in America care for them as individuals."

It is planned to raise funds sufficient to bring the Christian ministry of each denomination and communion to the weakness of body, hunger of heart and sickness of soul of many million people . . . and thereby to build a stronger Christian world of hope and lasting peace.

The funds raised will be administered through the regular overseas relief and rehabilitation channels of each denomination and communion. They will help to rebuild and strengthen the Christian ministry—offer material aid where it is most urgently needed; rebuild churches, schools, homes for orphans and aged; help the churches in their work of caring for, ministering to, and relocating the tens of thousands of displaced persons.

Boy Locks Self In Bank Closet

There was some excitement for a short time at the Gettysburg National bank about 10 o'clock this morning when a two-year old son of a customer locked himself in a clothes closet.

John W. Hewitt, cashier at the bank, found the youngster when he was unable to open the closet door to get his hat before leaving the bank on an errand.

Mrs. Glenn Fetters was transacting business at one of the cages and her two-year old son, "Buddy" had strayed from his mother's side, walked into the closet, closed the door and turned the key in the lock.

For a few moments there was excitement in the bank as employees tried to remove the door from its hinges and others suggested removing the frosted glass panel.

Mrs. Fetters then "took over." She spoke to her son:

"Buddy, if you want to get out to Mother you'll have to turn the key."

Buddy turned the key in the lock and walked out.

Goodling also reported that over 1,100 letters are being sent to farmers in this section of the state urging them to raise rabbits for the cooperative packing house. The markets are available, Goodling said, but production will have to be increased in this section if the plant is to secure most of its rabbits from this area.

Vet Convicted In Piggy Bank Murder

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP)—A 25 year old war veteran, charged with the fatal shooting of Jacob Ulrich, 32, was adjudged guilty of murder in the second degree by Judge Paul G. Smith.

Sylvester Smith changed his plea to guilty yesterday and threw himself on the mercy of Dauphin county court. Sentencing was deferred until a later date.

Judge Smith said the case did not appear to be one of willful, deliberate or premeditated killing.

Smith testified that the shooting, in a truck, was "accidental." He said his argument with Ulrich stemmed from the discovery of a missing $54.50 from the piggy bank of Smith's young son.

Mississippi Levee Breaks; Road Flooded

Baton Rouge, La., March 24 (AP)—The Mississippi river broke through a levee today and sent residents fleeing from their homes. The break occurred about 4:10 a. m. (CST), about three miles north of Port Allen, across the river from Baton Rouge.

Within three hours the water had moved three miles in from the river. Highway 190 was covered to a depth of three feet.

Sheriff's deputies and volunteers patrolled the roads, knocking on doors and urging residents to leave their houses. The Red Cross set up a reception center in Port Allen to care for refugees.

The bullet pierced and weighted body of Patricia was removed from the Milwaukee river near her home in West Allis, Wis., last Sunday. Army Day will be observed April 6. It is a day set aside by the American people to honor the institution they maintain with their money and their men. The theme this year is "The United States Army—Part of the Team—for Security."

Army Day will be marked throughout the nation and at Army installations overseas. There will be parades, exhibits, "open house" at Army posts and National Guard armories, state-ments by high government officials and Army officers, radio and television shows. All will follow the basic theme of unity. A number of veterans' groups and patriotic, civic, and fraternal organizations will help the Army observe the anniversary. In addition, many of the more than 800 civilian Military Manpower committees, which are supporting the voluntary recruiting program in communities throughout the country, will undertake Army Day programs. As has been the custom since 1928, the Military Order of the World Wars will be the official sponsor of Army Day.

Sprays To Protect Cherries

Commercial cherry growers should consult their County Farm Agent to obtain copies of spray schedules prepared for them by state agricultural authorities. Of course, the small grower or owner of a few cherry trees for home use cannot always follow the more elaborate spraying programs suitable for commercial growers. For these the editor has prepared a simplified cherry schedule which will adequately prevent common cherry diseases and curb insect pests. Details for preparing sprays on a small scale are provided. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope or 3-cent stamp for your free copy today. Include all questions desired.

YORK DEFEATS WHITEHALL HI EASILY 41-28

Harrisburg, March 24 (P)—Only seven Class A basketball teams remain in the running today for the 1949 PIAA state championship.

Somerset, South Hills, Whitehall and Williamsport dropped out of the race in last night's preliminary inter-district eliminations. Another three will bow out in Saturday night's regional semi-finals.

The teams still eligible for the state crown, worn last year by Norristown, are Radnor, District 1; Old Forge, District 2; York, District 3; Westmont, District 6; Alliquippa, District 7; Bradford, District 9; and Sharpville, District 10.

York high's White Roses came through with the most impressive victory of the playoffs last night as they completely stymied Whitehall's District 11 titlists, 41 to 28. The Roses now move into the eastern regional finals next Tuesday night for the second consecutive year. Whitehall, with a giant killer reputation following successive wins over Allentown, Hazleton and Mahanoy City, found the District 3 champions too tough a nut to crack after the second quarter when York held the Zephyrs to a single field goal.

New Attendance Mark
Proof that schoolboy basketball has reached the major sports status in Pennsylvania was established when more than 9,000 fans pushed their way into the Hershey sports arena to set an all-sports attendance record.

Old Forge, with last year's all-state forward, Sammy Cavalier, leading the way, moved to the fore as York's main rival for eastern honors as the District 2 representative trounced Williamsport, District 2, 39 to 25, at Lewisburg last night.

The Forgers' next obstacle is Radnor, District 1 kingly, in the east's only semi-final battle Saturday night at Philadelphia's Penn palestra. Saturday's winner draws York Tuesday in the eastern final.

Alliquippa Wins Again
Over in the west, the unbeaten Alliquippa powerhouse moved into the regional semi-finals Saturday night by outclassing Somerset, 53 to 32, at McKeesport. The Quipmen, District 7 (WPIAL) champions will face District 6's Westmont Hilltoppers at the Pitt stadium in the next round.

Sharpville's District 10 titlists also had an easy time in turning back South Hills, the Pittsburgh district champion, by a 45 to 39 score. Sharpville meets Bradford, District 9, in a Saturday night semi-final match tentatively carded for the Farrell high school floor.

Both Bradford and Westmont drew byes in last night's competition.

WOULD PROTECT STOCKED TROUT

Harrisburg, March 24 (P)—Pennsylvania's anglers would not be allowed to fish for a month in advance of the April 15 trout season under legislation which reached the Senate today.

Passed by the House unanimously yesterday, the bill is designed to protect newly-stocked trout and warm water fish during the spawning season. Ponds or lakes not posted by the state Fish commission would be open, however, under the measure. The bill, if passed by the Senate and signed by Gov. James H. Duff, would have no effect on the 1949 season.

In other action, the House passed legislation to change the local option method of setting aside an antlerless deer season for any county. It would permit the signing of petitions to abrogate the season in any county by farmers and nimrods who took out licenses in the particular county involved.

The present law provides that 50 per cent of the residents of that county who have hunting licenses, even if issued elsewhere, may petition the state Game commission to bar antlerless deer hunting in their county.

A third bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate would boost $6,500 the annual fish-stocking payments made to the state by firms with hydro-electric dams that prevent migration of fish in a river.

CHICAGO PICKED FOR TITLE BOUT

Chicago, March 24 (P)—Joe Louis, in his new role as boxing promoter, has picked Chicago for the Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight scrap for the Brown Bomber's vacated title.

It was in Chicago's Comiskey Park that Louis lifted the heavyweight crown from Jim Braddock in 1937 and it may be in the same ball park next June that the proposed 15-round match between Charles and Walcott takes place. The date might be June 22, the night Louis won the championship in the White Sox park nearly 12 years ago. The date and site will be announced later.

The Charles-Walcott bout would be for the National Boxing association's version of the heavyweight championship. New York, one of the two states not a member of the NBA, has suggested an "elimination" tournament for Louis' title and will not recognize the Charles-Walcott winner as champion. Massachusetts is the other non-NBA state.

Louis announced the Charles-Walcott affair yesterday with his partners in the new International Boxing club.

The injury was not considered serious, but Valo's place in the lineup was taken over by Wally Moses.

San Bernardino, Calif., March 24 (P)—Rain which knocked out the Pittsburgh Pirates' exhibition game yesterday gave Manager Bill Meyer a chance to look over his pitching staff and find it good.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, March 24 (P)—One of the best vaudeville shows in town comes when Chickie Bogard, the Tournament of Champions matchmaker, starts giving his off-the-record version (with gestures) of a matchmaker's troubles. . . . Unfortunately, it can't be reproduced. . . . Chickie contends that the only good matchmaker in this section in recent years was Johnny Attel. . . . Operating in the small clubs, Johnny used to develop the local boys into main bout attractions, always being careful not to over-match them against out-of-town fighters. . . . "Attel was the only matchmaker who would plan a whole season in advance. These guys now figure every show is a separate operation—we go broke afterwards," Chickie explains. "They have a good boy and they bring in some out-of-town fighter who is too good for him. They get the kid licked and then what have they? Nothing. . . . Johnny used to build up five or six main bout fighters every season, and I mean main bouts in the Garden—not the Broadway or Ridgewood Grove or St. Nick's."

Racing
Aiken, S. C.—Full Speed and Wine List, Kentucky Derby nominees, won time trials in the winter training season Sunday.

Hallandale, Fla.—Calumett farm's September win the Whitehall purse at Gulfstream, paying $22,600.

HE STRUCK IT RICHIE

When the Phillies' Richie Ashburn was beamed while trying to score on a short passed ball in a recent exhibition game, he was carried into the clubhouse, blood gushing from a cut over his eye, and laid on a rubbing table. . . . Dusty Cooke looked at him sympathetically and remarked: "Gee, it's just a year ago today that the kid almost broke his back in an accident." . . . Whereupon the supposedly unconscious Ashburn raised his head, wiped away some blood and gasped: "Hey, may be that's good luck. I had a great year last year. Does this mean I'll have another?"

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Villanova's Paul Arizin, who captivated Garden basketball fans during the eastern NCAA tournament, probably won't appear in the Garden next season. . . . Villanova, which tried unsuccessfully for years to break into a New York doubleheader, has other ambitious plans. . . . The Wildcats will have the same team next season, plus four or five good freshmen.

SIGN TWO PLAYERS

Buffalo, N. Y., March 24 (P)—The All-America Football conference Buffalo Bills have signed two more players. Contracts with Bob Oristaglio, end of the University of Pennsylvania's eleven last year, and Joseph T. Kirkland, former University of Virginia tackle, were announced yesterday.

Sounds are either musical or non-musical. The former are produced by sound waves in a rhythmic pattern; the latter are irregular waves which do not occur at equal intervals.

DISAGREE ABOUT DICKSON'S VALUE

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24 (P)—Manager Eddie Dyer and owner Fred Saigh, Jr., of the St. Louis Cardinals took opposite sides today on the question of whether pitcher Murry Dickson would prove of value to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The slim 31-year-old righthander who helped the Redbirds win three pennants, was sold to the Pirates last January for an estimated $125,000. The sale came in the nature of a surprise, since Dickson, despite his 12-16 won and lost record, was regarded as the Cardinals' number 2 hurler.

The Missourian, although suffering his first losing season in seven years with the Cards, was their hardest worker. He pitched the most innings of the staff, 252. But he also yielded a record crop of home runs, 39.

"I think we made a mistake in selling Dickson," Dyer said. "He's still a fine pitcher and one of the greatest competitors I've ever seen. I predict he'll have a successful season with the Pirates and I won't be at all surprised if he makes a pennant contender of the club."

Saigh, who approved the sale made by Robert Hannegan, then president of the Cards, disagreed with his manager.

"I don't think Dickson is a top flight pitcher any more," he said. "He's not a young man anymore. Besides, you can't overlook those 39 home run balls he threw last year."

or their enlistment periods expired, simply disappeared. There were no replacements to fill the ranks, Nowicki said.

Show Naval Film

With World War 1 a replacement program was set up but never received much of a test due to the early end of the war. World War II marked the development of the replacement program as known today, he pointed out. With the handling of hundreds of thousands of men the replacement system had difficulties, particularly in the Pacific. In the ETO where distances were relatively short, the replacement command was able to keep the armies supplied with the men needed in quick order. In the Pacific, however, due to the tremendous distances, it frequently took six months for a replacement to be moved from the American continent to the front line units, Nowicki said.

A motion picture of naval warfare was shown. Plans were outlined for the members of the 2108th to visit the "gun-farm" of Capt. Philip Sharpe, between Fairfield and Emmitsburg, on April 2. The group will meet at the Hotel Gettysburg at 1:15 o'clock on the afternoon of April 2 to arrange for transportation to the Sharpe farm.

The next regular meeting of the depot will be held April 6. About 40 attended Wednesday's meeting.

FORMER WIZARD OF KKK ELUDES PAROLE OFFICER

Philadelphia, March 24 (P)—Edward Young Clarke, 73-year-old former Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan escaped from a parole supervisor today at the Pennsylvania railroad's 30th Street station. Clarke was being taken from New York to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., as a parole violator.

Fred C. Kendrick, parole supervisor of the board of pardons at Atlanta, said he took custody of Clarke after he was arrested in New York with four years of a seven-year prison sentence on a bad check charge still hanging over him.

Kendrick told newsmen he was in a hurry to get back to jail and had been unable to obtain reservations on a through train to the south from New York. Therefore, he said, he took a train here.

Upon their arrival, Kendrick walked to the ticket window to buy tickets for Atlanta. Clarke was not handcuffed.

Kendrick continued:

Send Out Flyer

A crowd gathered at the window but he was confident he could keep a close watch on Clarke. He bought the tickets and turned back to Clarke. The former KKK bigwig was gone.

Kendrick, who like Clarke was an elderly man, notified PRR police. A quick search of the area brought no trace of the onetime Imperial Wizard.

Police jumped into the search. A flyer was sent out on Clarke, describing him as slender, of medium height and wearing silver rimmed eyeglasses.

In the early twenties, Clarke was the KKK's super-salesman. He claimed he built up the hooded order from 3,000 members and a headquarters renting for $6 monthly into an organization of 5,000,000 members with a magnificent "Imperial Palace" in Atlanta.

RENT CONTROL BILL LABELED 'PRETTY GOOD'

Washington, March 24 (P)—Democratic leaders today called the Senate approved bill to extend rent controls 12 to 15 months "a pretty good job." However, they didn't like a provision allowing "home rule" decontrol any time.

The Senate passed the bill last night, 68 to 10. It permits some rent increases up to 10 per cent.

Senate action sent the bill back to the house, which already has approved a measure to continue rent controls 15 months beyond March 31, when the present rent law expires.

House Bill Differs

The House bill differs in several respects from the Senate's, so conferees from the two branches of Congress have to work out a compromise before the legislation can go to the White House.

The Senate-House conference group plans to get together tomorrow.

Twenty-three Republicans joined 45 Democrats in ramming the Senate bill through. All the 10 votes against it were cast by Republicans—Senators Bricker (Ohio), Butler (Neb.), Cordon (Ore), Ecton (Mont), Gurney (S.D.), Kern (Mo), Mundt (S.D.), Wherry (Neb.), Williams (Del.) and Young (N.D.).

Administration leaders succeeded in battling down most amendments they contended would cripple rent control. But they came out on the short end of a couple of counts, too.

Don't Like Local Option

In one case, the Democrats deserted President Truman in large numbers. That was on an amendment by Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) to continue rent controls two years as Mr. Truman asked.

That proposal was swamped, 75 to 10. Among others, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), the majority leader, voted against it. So did 38 other Democrats and 36 Republicans. The 10 votes for the amendment were all by Democrats.

Lucas termed the bill the Senate passed "a pretty good job," all except that local option provision. Senator Myers (D-Pa.), the deputy majority leader, told reporters he feels that way about it, too. The section they dislike lets cities and towns junk rent controls at any time if the state governor approves. That went in Tuesday on an amendment by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.).

Girl, 15, Fatally Burned; Two Injured

Danville, Pa., March 24 (P)—Fifteen-year-old Ann Messersmith was burned to death as a fire and explosion damaged a recreation house near the Messersmith home, seven miles northwest of Danville.

The girl's father, Harold Messersmith, 43, and 17-year-old James Bowers were injured in the blast yesterday.

Messersmith was taken to Geisinger Memorial hospital here with third degree burns. Bowers was treated at the same hospital for severe burns of the arms and head.

Coroner A. H. Klase of Montour county said the fire and explosion apparently occurred while one member of the trio was attempting to start a fire with kerosene or gasoline.

Mrs. Messersmith was attending a flower show in Philadelphia at the time.

HOPE FOR WEST GERMAN STATE NOT PROMISING

By WES GALLAGHER

Frankfurt, Germany, March 24 (P)—The plan to create a Western German state has bumped into increasingly powerful opposition.

Informed observers now give the idea no better than a 50-50 chance of being worked out. This dark outlook has taken root only in the last few weeks.

The Communists have been opposed right along to any Western German government. It would leave out their eastern zone of Germany and minimize Communist influence in the west.

Strange Allies

In this opposition they have found some strange allies, acting with different motives but the same end aim: No West German state. This opposition includes the strong Socialist party in Western Germany, the French military government and a new German nationalist movement which aims at a united Germany.

The outcome of the dispute is important. If the present German constitutional Assembly at Bonn fails to adopt a constitution for Western Germany, American and British policy—which calls for setting up such a state—must undergo a complete change.

The Bonn Assembly early this month worked out its ideas of a West German constitution and offered it to the military governors of the U. S., Britain and France. The governors recommended changes which would give less power to the proposed federal government; more power to the states.

Need Two-thirds Vote

The German Socialists, who hold 27 of the 65 votes in the Assembly, are insistent on a strong central government with state planning. The Socialists say they won't back down. The apparently figure the Western powers, if they want a Western Germany, will have to make concessions.

The Assembly can't adopt a constitution without the Socialists since a two-thirds vote is needed.

It is an open secret that French representatives in Germany have worked continuously at blocking the proposed

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BE ACCESSIBLE
For many years I travelled thousands of miles as a salesman for my own wares (features for newspapers). Almost universally I was received with courtesy and by men willing to hear about what I had to offer. Most of them were accessible. Had they not have been I might today be engaged in work far different than what has given to me so much pleasure and happiness.

This is one of the things that I learned in my selling era—that the biggest men and usually the busiest, were actually the easiest to see and talk to, and the quickest to make a decision. They were the ones accessible to ideas as well.

Big men are not prone to have you waste their time, but they are as accessible as the sunny morning to anyone who will enrich that time of theirs.

In all my years in business I have been proud of the fact that I have always been accessible to my friends, or to those with a desire to improve themselves, or to whom I could offer suggestions of benefit. I have always been benefitted in turn. Anyone else who will go along on this line will profit, as well.

From our earliest years of mind development we should have an accessible mind. An open mind—ready to grasp any truth, or to receive any advice, information, or ideas that may be carefully mulled and "fletcherized" until the greatest gain can be secured. A mind with closed doors and window shades down, is a dead mind—or seriously ill at any rate!

This accessible mind should be looked upon as the open door to new knowledge, new hope, and an enlarged horizon. On many of the doors that I used to note during my active salesman days were these welcome words: "Walk In!" And of course I walked in. But you may be sure that those without a message, or a valuable idea to present—walked out!

Be accessible to beauty, to the endless blessings that are forever falling about you, to any appealing idea, to people who may need you in some way or other, and to every bit of knowledge that you can attract your way. Be accessible even to kindly criticism.

NEGLECT

Time was she'd look about and say:
"The walls should papered be."
But, these are needs, with her away,
I never seem to see.
Now here's another spring to face
With much that should be done.
But why repair an empty place
Where all the dreams are spun?

I know she'd say: "We ought to paint.
The walls and floors are bare."
For time has left on them the taint
That proves the lack of care.
But there must be the will to do
The work from year to year,
And she who would the home renew
No longer can be here.

The spring is coming on again.
The need for paint I see,
But still I let the place remain
The way it used to be.
What matter now the stains of wear?
I blindly pass them by.
Since she's no longer here to care,
No longer care can I.

RIDDLED VETS' BILL NEAR FINAL VOTE IN HOUSE

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Riddled by amendments, the Rankin Veterans Pension bill pushed toward a final vote in the House today.

Its opponents, pursuing a strategy of loading it down with changes, counted on making the bill so unacceptable that the House would wash its hands of the whole affair and dump it back into committee. That in effect would kill off pension legislation for the present.

But the bill's backers announced they were ready to battle it out and force members to go on record down to the final tally.

Before going into a strategy huddle with pension proponents last night, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), the bill's sponsor, said "We can win."

Make More Changes
As originally called up, Rankin's bill provided for a pension of $90 a month to all World War I and II veterans at age 65, regardless of financial need. As it came back before the House for its third day of debate, it looked something like a combined pension-bonus bill.

Before adjourning, the House tentatively accepted an amendment by Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind.) knocking out the $90 pension figure and substituting what amounted to a deferred bonus proposal.

The Jacobs plan provides that all veterans would be paid a flat $10 a month at age 65, plus an additional $1 a month for each month of war service and another $3 a month for each month spent in an overseas theater of combat.

Plans Voted Down
Twice the House refused to exclude World War II veterans from pension benefits.

It first rejected an omnibus substitute for the Rankin bill offered by Rep. Huber (D-Ohio), and then turned down an amendment by Rep. Kearney (R-NY) to limit pensions to World War I servicemen.

Also voted down was another amendment by Rep. Camp (D-Ga.) to cut pensions to $60 a month, and a proposal by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) which would have established compensation benefits for disabilities incurred out of the service.

NEW LABOR BILL SCHEDULED FOR HOUSE DEBATE

Washington, March 24 (AP)—The House Labor committee got out its "approved" stamp today for President Truman's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law.

Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich.) predicted that the measure would be okayed without any changes. The committee's ranking Republican, Rep. McConnell of Pennsylvania, said he saw little chance of preventing it.

Majority leader McCormack (D-Mass.) told a reporter the bill might be scheduled for House debate ahead of minimum wage legislation. Lesinski said he would ask for that line up.

An informal survey of labor committee sentiment indicated the administration's bill would be approved by a margin of at least 13 to 11, and perhaps 14 to 10. One Republican on the 25-man committee was expected to be absent.

Lesinski said he was sure of the 13 Democratic votes, including his own, by which the minimum wage bill skinned through the committee on a one-vote edge. Rep. Brehm (R-Ohio) announced he was willing to vote to send the labor bill to the floor for debate, although he is not satisfied with it in its present form.

Would Scrap T-H Act
The bill, drafted by labor department lawyers, would scrap the entire Taft-Hartley law outright. Then it would write a new national labor law, using the Wagner act as a base and adding some provisions recommended by Mr. Truman.

It was approved three weeks ago by the Senate Labor committee, and went on the Senate calendar this week.

The House version was started on its way yesterday with 8 to 5 approval from a labor subcommittee. The vote was on straight party lines.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Kelly (D-Pa.), closed 10 days of public hearings on the bill Monday. Industry witnesses opposed total repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, although some suggested changes. Labor leaders generally favored the administration bill, but some urged reviving the Wagner act as it stood from 1935 to 1947.

can't be found in his usual haunts.

The committee is trying to locate Nelson as a key witness for hearings next month that will focus on the American Slav Congress. So far, efforts of committee agents to serve a subpoena on him have failed.

"We can't find him," the member told reporters. "Nelson hasn't shown up at Communist headquarters in New York or at his home in Pittsburgh."

Is Red Organizer
Nelson is a Communist party organizer for western Pennsylvania. The American Slav Congress is active in that area, too.

The committee tentatively set April 18 for the start of hearings on this organization. The inquiry might have to be put off if witnesses can't be located.

This is the first hearing the committee has billed in the present Congress. The committee wants to find out whether Communists have grabbed control of the Slav Congress and are using it for espionage.

Nelson was born in Yugoslavia in 1903, as Steve Mesarosh.

The Un-American Activities committee in the 80th Congress dealt with him at some length in a report on "Soviet espionage activities in connection with the atom bomb." It linked him with West Coast operations.

Has Many Aliases

It said: "Steve Mesarosh, alias Louis Evans, alias Steve Nelson, is the Communist espionage agent who was engaged in this case in securing information regarding the development of the atom bomb.

"The individual from whom he secured information . . . was a scientist at the University of California, in Berkeley, Calif."

OPONENTS of HB-560, which would remove the Pennsylvania trade barrier by modifying truck weights to permit equality with surrounding states, contend that trucks destroy highways. Let's examine this spurious claim.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, now nine years old, is a heavily traveled truck route. More than half a million trucks passed over it last year. And yet, its maintenance cost per mile of two-lane highway was $78.65, according to figures compiled by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. In the same year, maintenance per mile of other two-lane highway of rigid (concrete) construction cost the State $225.81. Turnpike construction of highway surface is almost precisely that specified by the Department of Highways.

In other words, State Highway Department maintenance costs on a system where trucks constitute only a minor percentage of the traffic flow were 287% more than on the Turnpike, where there is a heavy concentration of truck traffic.

What Does Damage Highways?
If trucks don't destroy highways, what does? It's the weather! Just as the sidewalk in front of your home breaks up from the weather, so a highway deteriorates in time; the critical age is generally recognized as 20 years. Even though they carry no truck traffic at all, roads like the Merritt Parkway in Connecticut, and others through parks in your own city, eventually break up from the effects of the weather.

The alternate freezing and thawing that occurs in a climate like Pennsylvania's can cause more damage to a roadway in one season than a generation's traffic!

Properly engineered tractor semi-trailers spread their loads over a wider area of the pavement on 10 to 14 large sized tires. The stress per square inch on the road is not much more than a passenger car. In fact, the load actually rides on the air in the tires!

Let's Keep Pennsylvania a Great State

Let's explode once and for all the myth that trucks tear up the roads. Now is the time to bring Pennsylvania's horse and buggy truck weights law up to date by providing equality with surrounding states, all of which permit more liberal weights for tractor semi-trailers. Passage of HB-560 by the Pennsylvania Legislature would accomplish this task, without increasing the size or maximum weight of trucks, and remove the shackles handicapping Pennsylvania business men and farmers in competition with those in bordering states.

Know the story of the trucking industry and how it affects your welfare. Write for free copies of two interesting booklets: "The Trucking Industry in Pennsylvania" and "It's Time for a Change!"

PICKS OLIVIER, JANE WYMAN AS OSCAR WINNERS

Hollywood, March 24 (AP)—The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences hands out its 1948 Oscars tonight, and it looks like England's show—at last.

If this be heresy in Hollywood, then build my gallows high. Because I believe Sir Laurence Olivier and his majestic "Hamlet" should win the best actor and best film awards. Jane Wyman should get the nod as best actress in "Johnny Belinda."

Of course (here comes the hedging), if voting among the 1987 Academy members follows a strictly American pattern, "Johnny Belinda" will make "Hamlet" move over.

Miss Wyman's only serious worry, I think, is Olivia DeHavilland's performance in "The Snake Pit." And Olivier could be displaced as best actor by Lew Ayres, also in "Johnny Belinda."

A British picture has never won the top award. This year, for the first time, two British films, "Hamlet" and "The Red Shoes," were nominated. Other contenders are "Johnny Belinda," "The Snake Pit" and "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

With Olivier and Ayres on the list of best actor nominees are Montgomery Clift ("The Search"), Dan Dailey ("When My Baby Smiles at Me") and Clifton Webb ("Sitting Pretty"). Olivier was nominated for the same honor two years ago, for his "Henry V."

Miss Wyman and Miss DeHavilland are competing with Ingrid Bergman ("Joan of Arc"), Irene Dunne ("I Remember Mama") and Barbara Stanwyck ("Sorry, Wrong Number") for best actress Oscars.

By usual Hollywood standards, tonight's 21st annual awards will be a modest event, held for the first time in the Academy's own 950-seat theater. The program has been condensed (on paper) to 90 minutes.

Honshu Volcano Starts Erupting

Tokyo, March 24 (AP)—Fiery Mount Asama spewed smoke and ashes 10,000 feet into the air today.

The treacherous Central Honshu volcano, one of the two largest of Japan's 500 volcanoes, is 8,340 feet high. It is in Gunma prefecture.

U. S. Army Pvt. G. L. Gilmer of Elizabeth, Pa., is at the resort hotel Mompel near the volcano. He said Japanese meteorological service observers were at the base of the volcano, which vies each summer with Mount Asa, Japan's other large active cone.

For nearly two years Americans in the resort hotel near Mount Asama have been forbidden to approach the lower slopes of the volcano.

District Attorney Teeter Will Reply April 11 To Robert Staley's Petition Asserting Ray Simmons Was 'Too Drunk' To Attack And Kill H.L. Humpert

might have been kicked to death by his own mule or one of the other animals in the barn paces a new thought. Staley declares he, not Simmons, scuffled with Humpert, but that the scuffle took place in the barn and aroused the animals, and that he did not hurt Humpert sufficiently to cause his death.

17 Wounds On Head

Medical testimony was used to show that Humpert had 17 wounds on his head and face. Other testimony was introduced to show that Humpert's lantern and his glasses were found some distance from the barn, along the path leading from the house to a barn door. At the same spot a pool of what a state police chemist said was human blood, was found.

Ray H. Simmons, Mechanicsburg R. 1, was convicted in the Adams county court here on May 6, 1947, of the murder of Herbert L. Humpert, 70-year-old Tyrone township farmer, at the latter's home on the Peach Glen road the night of March 24. He was sentenced by Judge W. C. Sheely, on March 8, 1948, to die in the electric chair at the Western penitentiary. At the time he was sentenced, an appeal by his attorney, Richard S. Brown, for a new trial, was denied. Postponement of sentence was denied at the same time, and Simmons was returned to the Dauphin county jail. The new Adams county jail had not been completed at that time. The date of his execution was left to Governor Duff to fix.

Called "Brutal" Murder

The murder of Humpert was termed one of the most brutal in the history of the Commonwealth. The prosecution declared Humpert was killed "while on an errand of mercy." Humpert was beaten to death with a claw hammer, wielded, the prosecution claimed by Simmons, as Humpert walked to his barn to get a car jack for Simmons and Staley. Simmons was accompanied, or accompanied, on the murder trip, by Robert L. Staley, of Mechanicsburg, who was convicted of murder at a trial which followed the Simmons trial. He escaped the chair with a life sentence which he is now serving.

The prosecution claimed that Simmons and Staley "caved" the Humpert farm prior to the killing, and went there the night of March 24 with the intent of robbing the elderly farmer, reputed to be worth in the neighborhood of $30,000. They faked the story of a flat tire on their car when they aroused Humpert and asked for a jack, the prosecution claimed.

Humpert's body was found March 26, two days after his death, in a feed alley in his barn. The attack on him was made on a pathway leading from the back door of the farm house to the barn, the state claimed. Humpert died from 17 wounds on the head and face, according to medical testimony.

Neighbor Finds Body

Humpert's body was found by Spencer McKinney, a neighbor, who went to the farm after not seeing Humpert for two days. Humpert had lived alone for eight years after the death of a sister.

State police ran down several clues which resulted in the arrest of Simmons and Staley on March 31, 1947. They were questioned at the Dauphin county jail and on April 2, 1947, signed confessions in the office of the then District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr. On the same day they were charged with murder before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore and on April 8 both were held for court. A grand jury indicted them on April 24.

Motions of defense attorneys for a continuance of the Simmons trial to the August term, and for a change of venue, were denied, and Simmons went to trial on April 30. He was found guilty of the murder charge on May 6. The verdict of the jury was guilty of first degree murder, with the death penalty.

Staley Gets Life Sentence

The Staley trial followed immediately, and he was found guilty of murder, with a recommendation that he be given life imprisonment, on May 10. The present district attorney, Daniel E. Teeter, assisted at both trials as special assistant district attorney. Attorney Eugene V. Bulleit was appointed by the court to represent Staley.

Simmons got only $65 out of the robbery and murder, according to his confession. He said that he and Staley found $129 in the Humpert home, and that they split it, Staley taking $64. Staley later admitted, however, that instead of getting $64, he got nearly $1,600. Simmons, it was claimed, was in ignorance of this larger amount which Staley said he retained. He later gave approximately $1,300 of it to a Mechanicsburg girl who turned it over to Mechanicsburg police when she read of Staley's arrest.

According to the confessions, Simmons "pawed" a suit for $5 to finance the trip in his automobile to the Humpert farm on the afternoon of March 24 and the robbery and killing that night.

Both Were On Parole

Both Simmons and Staley were on parole for previous offenses, and at the time of the arrests, District Attorney Yake said it was believed by local police that Simmons had been connected with the Black Diamond gang in Harrisburg.

Simmons repudiated much of his confession at his trial, claiming that he was "stupid drunk." He and Staley spent part of the afternoon in Gettysburg before the robbery-slaying, and returned here after the Humpert murder, it was shown.

Simmons said at his trial that he and Staley "got drunk" in Gettysburg on the afternoon of March 24, and that he, Simmons, remembered nothing from the time he got drunk until he was taking a cold shower later in Staley's home. He said all he knew about what might have happened was told him by Staley. There was testimony that he and Staley "fixed up" the story they were to tell to the authorities while confined immediately after their arrest, in the Dauphin jail, to make their stories the same. They drank the greater part of two fifths of liquor, Simmons said, and he did not remember leaving Gettysburg, he added.

One Staley Witness

Staley did not testify in his own defense, when it came to his trial. His sister, Mrs. Mary Scott, Fairfield R. D. was the only defense witness called by his attorney, Eugene V. Bulleit. However, in a statement Staley gave authorities after his arrest, he said he tried to dissuade Simmons from attempting a robbery at the Humpert farm.

At the trial Simmons declared that all he got in the way of money was $5 which he said Staley paid him to drive to Gettysburg for Staley to see his sister.

The record of the trial was filed in July, 1947, and in September an appeal was filed and motions for a new trial were argued in December. It was refused.

Then on March 19, 1948, authorities here were electrified by the news that Simmons and a jailmate, Edgar Via, 28, who was awaiting trial on robbery charges, had escaped from the Dauphin jail. Both were captured shortly before 9 p. m. on the same day, 17 hours after their escape, in Charlottesville, Va., in a stolen automobile, and Simmons was returned to the Dauphin county jail. New charges of prison breach, larceny and burglary were filed against him.

Asks New Trial

Thomas D. Caldwell, Harrisburg attorney, who was associated with Attorney Brown in the Simmons trial, filed an appeal for a new trial with the state supreme court on April 21. The appeal was not argued until November, and on January 11 the supreme court denied the request.

Staley's sensational statement that Simmons did not kill Humpert, and could not have committed the crime because Simmons "was dead drunk" just before going and was not able to drive the car or get out of it when we were at Humpert's or to drive it away when we

BEVIN WARNS FULL BLOCKADE ASSURES WAR

London, March 24 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons last night a total economic blockade of Soviet-occupied eastern Germany would lead to war.

Politicians on both sides of the left, brings the case up to date again.

Staley made his latest statements in a petition he signed, and which was presented to Chief Justice George W. Maxey of the Pennsylvania supreme court in Philadelphia. An order was signed by Justice Maxey, returnable April 11, directing District Attorney Teeter to show cause why the petition for a new trial on the basis of "after-discovered evidence" should not be granted.

Atlantic have suggested a complete counter-blockade of eastern Germany in retaliation against the Russian blockade of west Berlin.

"I do not want to break east-west trade," Bevin said. He contended such a shut-off "means sanctions, and sanctions mean war." He added, however, that materials which could be used in a war against the western powers should not be shipped to eastern areas.

Some Nations 'Saved'

The Russian zone of Germany still does business with a number of western countries, including Switzerland, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Belgium and Denmark.

The western allies' counter-blockade has stopped the movement of goods through their zone to the Soviet area of Germany, but east Germany still gets supplies from several western countries over other routes, mostly by sea.

Bevin, speaking in a debate on European affairs, said the west already has "saved" France, Italy and western Germany from communism.

Continuing Danger

He spoke after Conservative Harold MacMillan had told the House he expects Russia will offer "a fake appeasement" and seek a treaty ending allied occupation of Germany. MacMillan predicted also the Russians will attempt "quite shortly" a coup in Yugoslavia and Greece in an effort to seize control of the Eastern Mediterranean.

In the House of Lords, where a similar debate was held, Lord Pakenham, minister of civil aviation, warned that "there is danger of war this year, and I am afraid there will be for a number of years to come." He emphasized "that does not mean the government thinks war is probable this year," although it is preparing to meet "any emergency."

Bevin will leave for Washington Friday to attend the signing of the North Atlantic treaty.

here yesterday.

The prosecutor of eleven Communist party leaders read from a Communist document which bristled with such words as "armed insurrection," "revolutionary positions," "putschism," "revolutionary upsurge," and "mobilization of the masses."

A copy of this Communist program was identified by Louis F. Budenz, former Communist official who renounced the party in 1945 and returned to the Roman Catholic church.

Eudenz testified that the party had demanded his loyalty to Premier Stalin as the leader of the Communist world revolution in all countries, including the United States.

The witness said some of the defendants, being tried on charges of conspiracy to advocate overthrow of the U. S. government by force and violence, had taken such a loyalty pledge in Moscow.

Budenz was the first witness called by the government in the ten-week-old trial.

The first telescope is believed to have been constructed by Lippershey in Holland about 1609.

Release Trout

Luke Jacobs reported that within the past 10 days about 20 members from the club assisted representatives of the Pennsylvania Fish commission in releasing 1,200 rainbow trout in the Chambersburg Water Dam and 800 Brook trout in Carbaugh's Run, Caledonia.

The Game commission will have day-old pheasant chicks which they are asking the farmers and the local clubs to raise for the purpose of releasing. The local club is asking the farmers of this area to assist in raising these chicks for the first four weeks. Any farmer interested is asked to contact the secretary, G. Richard Knipple or Fieldmen Charles W. Weikert, Robert Myers and Clair Redding.

The meeting was in charge of the president, Dr. Joseph R. Riden, and G. Richard Knipple presented the secretary's report. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Robert Myers, Theron Blair and Walter Myers.

On Murder's Skirts

Chapter 3

When Ellen came back into her office there was a note on her desk. It was from Hubbard. She picked it up and read it. A bitter expression gathered around her mouth.

"Miss Carter," the note read, "will you write a letter to William Griffith informing him that inasmuch as he failed to pass his qualifying exams, his assistantship in this department terminates as of April first, J. B. H."

That was all. Very short, very direct, and very impersonal. Ellen looked at her watch. It was just ten minutes to four. She was thinking that Griffith would not have been flunked if the exam had been held at four-thirty, the time originally scheduled, instead of at two-thirty.

She was puzzled and hurt. A number of questions were spinning through her mind.

Why had Hubbard changed the time of Griffith's examination? Why did Hubbard want her to stay as his secretary when he knew she wanted to leave? Why? Why? Why?

Her troubled thoughts were suddenly terminated when Hubbard came out of his office.

Ellen looked up at him.

"Miss Carter, I'm leaving for the day now. Will you have Vereck call me at my home tonight?"

"Dr. Vereck should be here at any minute. You see, Dr. Hubbard," she added very sweetly, "I told him that Griffith's exam was to be held at four-thirty and I know he didn't want to miss it."

Hubbard frowned as she spoke.

"Well, of course it's regrettable to hold it earlier, why hadn't someone called him? Suddenly he roused himself. Saturday night? Not Saturday night! His mustache seemed blacker than ever against a wax-like face.

"Dr. Hubbard, thank you for the invitation." Again that curtsy. "But, you see, on Saturday night I attend the meeting of this section of the American Medical Association. Dr. Karl Jones will present a paper on effects of denervation of cancerous tissue. Dr. Jones, you know, he visited my laboratory in Prague," he went on proudly. "In 1935 while he was still a student yet, and afterwards we had much correspondence."

"Now really, Vereck," Hubbard's tone was pitying. "When will you refugees learn that there is no place for you in the American medical profession? Now take you, for instance. Maybe you were a big shot over there, but that doesn't mean a thing here. They don't want you. The sooner you learn that, the better off you'll be. Right now, you're very useful here as an excellent animal surgeon. And I must say you're lucky to have a good job here instead of rotting away in some concentration camp in Europe. If I were you," Hubbard emphasized the ominous threat in his voice by a glare, "I would stop pushing myself into places where I definitely was not wanted. I'm sure you'll have a better time having dinner with us. And now, if you'll excuse me—"

Vereck's nostrils quivered but he made no comment. He turned mechanically and slowly walked out.

"Miss Carter, I'm leaving now," Hubbard had his hat and coat on. He called back from the hall: "I'll go over those requisition forms with you when I get in tomorrow morning."

As he passed through the dark corridor, a figure moved in the shadows and whispered: "If you get in tomorrow morning, you viper!"

specialty."

"They reached the autopsy room and the two of them donned smocks, rubber gloves, and masks. Raff bent over the body. Above his mask his eyes had a puzzled, concentrating look. He looked up at Norton.

"You say Hubbard was in the Biology Department?"

"Biology, that's right."

"Was he doing any experiments with phosgene?"

"Ha! I knew it. Phosgene!" Norton exclaimed. "The only thing that puzzled me was trying to figure out how he managed to come in contact with the stuff. Of course if they're doing any experiments with it over in Biology, he ought to have known how to handle the gas."

He removed his mask and gloves.

"Well, we're all through here, I guess. Let's wash up."

As they left the autopsy room, Norton remarked, "I wonder if there would be anyone over in the Biology Department now. I really ought to check up on this before I turn in the report." He looked at his watch. "It's not quite nine-thirty. I believe I'll call 'd' like to get the report completed before I leave."

"I could call them," Raff offered, "and meanwhile you can fill out the report. You haven't much time left if you're really going to make that midnight train."

"That's right; I don't have much time. That would be fine if you'd do that, Raff. I'll be up in Surgery, in my office."

Ten minutes later Raff came into

'STAMP BOOK' TAX SYSTEM IS PROPOSED

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, March 24 (AP)—A new "stamp-book" tax-paying system was suggested today by the administration to help make possible a vast expansion of social security.

The stamp system is designed principally for farm workers and household help who would be among the 20,000,000 new workers blanketed under old age insurance if Congress approves the expansion.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, social security commissioner, projected the tax plan Norton's room. He sat down on the edge of Norton's desk and shook his head sadly.

Norton smiled. "Don't tell me they don't have any tanks of phosgene in that department."

"Not only do they not have any, nor have they ever had any, but—get this, Chief—I talked with the acting head, a chap by the name of Bray."

"Oh, yes," said Norton, "I know Bray."

"Well," continued Raff, "after I'd told him what we found at the autopsy, he said, quite distinctly, 'So he was murdered, after all.'"

as he laid before the House ways and means committee the details of President Truman's program to:

Quotes Pollsters

1. Increase the coverage of old age and survivors insurance from 30,000,000 to 50,000,000;
2. Boost the insurance benefits by about double;
3. Create a new insurance program for disabled workers; and
4. Reduce the "pension age" for women from 65 to 60.

Stiff resistance already has formed against Mr. Truman's proposal to increase the security tax take from the present $1,800,000,000 a year to around $5,000,000,000.

As part of the battle to prevent "destitution," Altmeyer said, the insurance program should be expanded to include 6,000,000 farm operators; 7,700,000 urban self-employed (lawyers, doctors, businessmen, etc.); 3,000,000 domestic or household workers, and 4,700,000 hired farm workers.

And while the President had some rough things to say about pollsters after last November's election, Altmeyer today quoted from a Gallup poll to show that most farmers want social security insurance.

Explains Plan

The categories of employed persons he listed were skipped when the social security act first was passed 12 years ago because of administrative difficulties, particularly in the collection of the tax.

Altmeyer said this problem has been licked, largely by the idea of a stamp book system. He explained it this way: "Under such a system

Scores Bill Aimed At Hotel Payrolls

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—Hotel payrolls will increase 25 to 45 per cent if the Lesinski wages and hours bill is passed, a meeting of hotel managers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland was told.

The prediction was made by Bennett E. Tousey, president of the Philadelphia Hotel association, last night.

He also foresaw widespread unemployment in the hotel field and allied industries as a result.

The Lesinski bill would establish a 40-hour week and 75 cents minimum hourly wage.

each employee would receive a stamp book in which stamps would be placed by his employer to evidence contributions made by the employer and the worker.

"In rural areas the employer could purchase these stamps from the mail carrier, and in urban areas they could be purchased at post offices. A stamp plan could be used also by small industrial and commercial establishments which found it more convenient.

Motter's Community Pure Food Store At Gardners Plans Week-End Sale

Upper Community Merchant Marks Third Anniversary; Will Give Groceries, Gifts

Motter's Community Pure Food store at Gardners will observe its third anniversary with a special anniversary sale Friday and Saturday, during which, in addition to many unusual sales offerings, the store will give away a number of baskets of groceries, and distribute a large number of samples.

G. Edwin Motter, a native of Two Taverns, is the proprietor of the store. He purchased the business three years ago from H. E. Meals, who had conducted it for about 11 years. Prior to buying the store, Mr. Motter had worked at Gardners as an electrician for the Metropolitan Edison company.

business has expanded considerably in the past three years since he purchased the store. Several new lines have been added.

He is assisted in the conduct of the business by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Motter, and two sons, Thomas, 18, who graduated at Biglerville high school in 1946, and Gene, 14, who attends school and helps out after school. Miss Zoe E. Haskell, Gardners, who has worked in the same store for the past several years, both for the former owner and Mr. Motter, is a clerk. (Photo by Lane studio)

STATE SCHOOL FOR DEAF URGED

Harrisburg, March 24 (P) — The Senate received today House-approved legislation to establish a Pennsylvania school for the deaf.

The 1,000-student institution would be operated by the Department of Public Instruction principally from tuition fees charged to deaf youths. Tuition for indigent boys and girls would, however, be paid by the state.

The institution would be built at an undecided location by the General State Authority with the Commonwealth paying rentals on a 99-year lease.

The measure was passed by the House yesterday together with these others to:

Authorize the appointment of a solicitor for the sheriff in sixth class counties.

Allow a borough council to act on tax assessment appeals instead of the county commissioners and prohibit the use of the revised borough real estate assessments for county tax purposes.

Require merged school districts to hire teachers employed in the individual schools before the merger and allow cumulative sick leave on the basis of the previous service.

Allow borough policemen to retire after 20 years of service after reaching the age of 50.

Boy, 11, Blinded By Brother's Air Rifle

Pottsville, Pa., March 24 (P) — An 11-year-old boy faces possible blindness today and his 18-year-old brother is in Schuylkill county jail charged with his shooting.

The younger boy, John Stahl, was struck by three pellets from an air rifle. One hit him in the eye.

The shooting occurred yesterday in the Pine Grove home of the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stahl, according to State Policeman Clyde Sorver.

Sorver said the brothers "were not on good terms." Richard is charged with aggravated assault and battery.

Although there are hundreds of thousands of stars, only about 5,000 are within range of the human eye.

SOCIAL 'FREEZE' ON WESTERNERS USED BY POLES

By LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw — The social "freeze" is on in Poland. Both Americans and Britishers are getting the brush-off from the Poles.

Poles not only are not coming to parties, cocktail affairs and other social events organized by members of the American and British colonies. Many times they don't even trouble to answer "R.S.V.P." invitations.

The answer to anything the government doesn't want to talk about is: "We don't know anything about it." We never heard of it. That is the reply of the government's official spokesman to any inquiries about the social "cold war."

Brush-Off Goes On

Those of the American embassy who like to entertain complain that it is not a question of setting a date and inviting Polish friends. If the American host hopes to attract a Polish guest the procedure is to telephone the Pole and ask him to set the date.

The government's official spokesman says, however, that no Pole is required to get official clearance to attend any Anglo-American affair. Nevertheless, the brush-off goes on.

Colonel Nelson Dingley, the new American military attaché, invited Polish military officials to a cocktail party to meet new members of his staff. Not a single Pole showed up. Dingley now has been waiting months to meet Marshal Michal Zymierski, minister of national defense. Commander Gerard Bogart of Scarsdale, N. Y., U.S. naval attaché, has been waiting since last August for an official meeting.

Strained Relations

American Ambassador Waldemar J. Gailman invited representatives of the entire Polish press to a "get-together" cocktail party at his home. A half-dozen came of the 60 or more invited.

The U.S. Information service asked students and professors of political science — 74 of them — to see a film on how American election machinery works. Only seven showed up, and they were not impressed.

The social "freeze" is not confined to the Poles. Sadly lacking are contacts with the personnel of the Russian and other embassies of the "peoples' democracies." Necessary official business is conducted in a suspicious, chilly atmosphere.

The social "cold war" obviously is an outgrowth of the strained international situation. No one doubts for a moment that all this would be changed if Generalissimo Stalin were to announce that permanent peace is here and relations with the United States were just dandy.

Washington, March 24 (P) — Pennsylvania Senators Myers (D) and Martin (R) voted in favor of the rent control extension bill passed by the Senate last night and sent to the House for conference. Previously, Myers had voted against an amendment which would have limited eviction powers of the Federal government. Martin voted for the amendment. The amendment was turned down 44-2.

UNION LEADERS SAY SHUTDOWN ENDS MONDAY

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP)—Two of John L. Lewis' field lieutenants said today the two-week coal mine shutdown will end on schedule Monday.

Although Lewis kept a stern silence at his home in Virginia, two district presidents of the United Mine Workers predicted there would be no move to extend the work stoppage beyond the March 28 deadline. Outside the union, many feared Lewis' rebuff by the U. S. Senate this week might prolong the walk-out.

Lewis had announced the walkout was a protest against the nomination of Dr. James Boyd as U. S. Bureau of mines director. The work stoppage was eight days old when the Senate confirmed Dr. Boyd's appointment Tuesday by a thumping 60-11 vote.

Lewis said also the shutdown was a memorial for the 51,000 miners killed and injured last year.

Sure Work Will Start

John P. Busarello, president of UMW District 5, which governs about 27,000 mine-members in western Pennsylvania, said: "It is my judgement that the original instructions will be carried out. We went out on the 14th and we'll be back on the 28th."

Fred Gullick, secretary-treasurer of District 5, flatly declared: "They'll all be at work, definitely — except maybe a few who'll be sick or something."

At Clearfield, Pa., James Mark, president of UMW District 2 with a membership of about 40,000, likewise predicted the walkout's end according to plan. But he lamented the forfeited salaries and feared the miners would be unable to "make up any lost wages after the holiday ends."

Nor will the coal industry be able quickly to recapture its lost production from the two weeks of idleness. After a walkout last year the nation's coal stockpile was laboriously rebuilt.

Local Tax Measure Praised, Censured

Easton, March 24 (AP)—The "local tax" law, officially known as Act 481, came in for praise at a tax conference held at Lafayette college.

The act "unshackled the power of local governments," Dr. Harold F. Alderfer, director of the state Bureau of Municipal Affairs, told the conference last night.

Henry D. Harral, of the University of Pennsylvania Institute of Local and State Government, praised the act because it relieves real estate of part of the tax burden. They were joined in approving the act by Norman A. Peil, president of the Pennsylvania Association of County Commissioners; Mark R. Bittner of Allentown, president of the Lehigh County taxpayers' league and Robert Lewis, secretary of the Northampton county branch of the Pennsylvania Economy league.

The only spoken opposition came from Harold F. Rasmussen, Lafayette instructor. He said income tax is more equitable.

Negro Battles Cops After Slaying Wife

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—A 45-year-old negro was charged with homicide today in the slaying of his wife.

The defendant, John White, was captured by three policemen last night as he fled the slaying scene, Detective Cecil Joyner reported.

The detective said White barricaded himself in the doorway of a store and exchanged shots with his captors before being subdued. Then he fought savagely with the gun butt and gashed the fingers of one of the policemen, Joyner added.

White's wife, Edna, was found with two bullet wounds in her body and a knife driven into her head.

Faces Death For Holdup Slaying

Media, Pa., March 24 (AP)—A 29-year-old Philadelphian is under a first degree murder conviction today in the holdup-slaying of a Chester, Pa., night club manager.

The death penalty automatically accompanies the conviction in which Alexander Niemi was found guilty by a Delaware county jury.

The jury of three men and nine women deliberated four hours yesterday before handing its verdict to Judge William R. Toal.

A second Philadelphian, Walter Maloney, Jr., 40, is awaiting a separate trial on a charge of murder in the same holdup-slaying.

The night club manager, Jacob J. Davis, was shot to death during a condition will permit the trial to proceed. She is accused of slaying her husband, Joseph Hanszek, U. S. Navy chief machinist's mate of Bethlehem, Pa.

STATEWIDE TAX ON COAL URGED FOR MINE FUNDS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP)—A move to impose a statewide coal tax to fight mine subsidies and fires gained new momentum today.

Latest support was reported coming from coal operators after recent conferences with Gov. James H. Duff.

An administration source, who declined quotation by name, said coal operators agreed to the proposal in view of its effect of wiping out scores of local taxes on coal enacted in the past two years.

Less Costly In End

The 1947 local tax law permits municipalities and school districts to tax anything not taxed by the state. A section of the law, however, provides for abolishment of any local levy if the commonwealth takes it over on a statewide basis.

A two-cent a ton state impost on coal, the source said, would be less costly than the myriad of local coal taxes. Some run as much as 10 cents a ton.

The original plan called for a oneholdup at the 520 club, Chester, last January 7.

SAYS ATLANTIC PACT CAN MEAN WAR OR PEACE

By LEE LINDER

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP) — John Foster Dulles says the North Atlantic pact can halt war forever — or be the immediate cause of a third world conflict.

Dulles told the closing session of the 3rd annual Philadelphia Bulletin forum last night "the pact is defensive" but—

"Unless we are very careful Soviet leaders might jump to the conclusion that the pact is, in fact, offensive. If so," Dulles warned, "it might bring on the war which it is designed to prevent."

"Being Right" Not Enough
Dulles is U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

"Peace is not won merely by being right," Dulles insisted. "If the Atlantic pact is to promote peace, the member states ought to conduct themselves, by word and deed, so that those in the Kremlin will see that the pact is an honest attempt to integrate and invigorate a free society within its natural limits."

"Let us rule out ambiguous acts and loose words that could make the pact a cause of war."
Charles E. Bohlen, state department counselor, said the North Atlantic pact became a reality because the United Nations' peace machinery is stalled by Russian veto and defiance.

Not A UN Substitute
But Bohlen made it clear the pact "is no substitute for the United Nations."

"This treaty represents a historic step in the development of American foreign relations," Bohlen said. "It is the first time in our history we are prepared to enter formally into an association for 20 years with countries outside this hemisphere under which we undertake to regard an attack on any of those countries as the equivalent of an attack on the United States."

Bohlen said only Congress can order the U. S. to war—despite the wording of the pact. Dulles, however, insisted the U. S. would join the fight—immediately—should any member nation be attacked.

Clare Boothe Luce, former Congresswoman from Connecticut, said "the present conflict" between the U. S. and Russia has three aspects.

SUPERSTITION in this Enlightened Age

★ Do you still bury a dishrag to remove a wart on your finger? Perhaps not, but some do. Yes, even asafetida is still worn on a string about the neck to ward off illness.

These cases are extreme, but surprisingly superstitious notions about disease and treatment are held in this enlightened age.

Before you accept secondhand statements that hint of witchcraft, consult your physician. He alone is competent to evaluate methods of prevention and treatment of disease.

SWEET PEAS MERIT WIDER USE

There is a widely prevalent idea that sweet peas are difficult to grow. This is erroneous. Sweet peas are extremely hardy, they may be started in early March because of their immunity to light frosts, they bear profusely over a long blossoming season, and they suffer from relatively few diseases or destructive insect attacks. The chief keys to success with this ornamental are found in choice and preparation of soils.

Sweet peas are close relatives of garden peas. Of course, they belong to the legume family of plants, and like most of their relatives, they demand deeply-mellow, well drained, and alkaline soils. To attempt to grow them on a shallow, hard type of soil and particularly where drainage is poor, is to invite failure before beginning. In fact, if inexperienced growers will remember the five main causes of failure with this flower, they will have a rather sound course charted for successful culture. Listed in probable order of their importance the causes of sweet pea failure are: (1) Poor soils lacking organic matter; (2) Defective drainage; (3) Acidity; (4) Lack of moisture during or immediately before the blossoming season; (5) Aphids. In some cases a sixth cause may be added—lack of seed inoculation.

Choose a sunny location where the soil is already fairly deep with fertility and humus. Early in March spade under to a depth of at least 18 to 20 inches a liberal application of well rotted, finely pulverized manure. Some rich fence row loam may be mixed through the present soil if more organic matter is needed. The depth of preparation is emphasized by the fact that sweet pea plants develop roots several feet long where soil conditions permit. Some 4-12-4 fertilizer may be worked uniformly through the top soil a week or so before planting time. If there are any doubts about soil alkalinity, work some lime through the soil at the same time.

Plant seed as early in March as soil and weather conditions permit. Make at least two to four additional plantings before mid-June to insure a succession of flowers until fall frosts come.

In most cases soils in the home grounds contain plenty of bacteria needed to inoculate sweet pea seed. However, if there are doubts on this point, it is safe to purchase a suitable culture from a local seed supply dealer and treat the seed as advised by the manufacturer of the preparation.

Sweet pea seed should be planted in a trench like asparagus roots so soil may later be worked in around the growing plants and thereby induce a deeper placement of the roots. This practice greatly reduces the perils of dry weather in summer.

Two important facts warrant emphasis in the care of sweet peas—irrigation and removal of faded blossoms. This plant demands plenty of moisture. Of course, the recommended inclusion of organic matter in the soil aims to provide moisture-holding powers. But in all cases

EASTER SEALS AIDS THOUSANDS OF HANDICAPPED

Easter seals have aided thousands of handicapped boys and girls become normal useful citizens, and the same bright future is in prospect for additional untold numbers if the public continues to buy and use these little stamps.

Dr. S. L. Grossman, Harrisburg physician and president of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, stressed this point in explaining the message of the 1949 Easter seal. He added that "when you buy and use Easter seals, you help the crippled child on this year's seal, and thousands like her to become self-sustaining citizens."

The little Seal girl, supported by canes, is silhouetted against a sunrise, symbol of future happiness and a life without her wooden props. The 1949 seal carries the message, "Help Crippled Children."

Nation-wide Appeal
Explaining the history of the Easter Seal, Dr. Grossman said, "more than 335,000 children in the United States are crippled, either through birth, accident or disease. The total number of handicapped persons is estimated at 23,000,000. These figures reveal the scope of the health problem which is being met through the services of public and private agencies."

"The Pennsylvania and National Societies for Crippled Children and Adults, and their local affiliated units are such agencies. Funds raised through the Easter seal sale are the major financial resources of crippled children's societies. Only by obtaining the necessary contributions can its services to the crippled be continued, and only through these services can the national medical and rehabilitative problems be negated."

"One state after another has adopted the Easter Seal sale as a means of giving every person a chance to help crippled children and adults. Today, more than 2,000 state and local societies, Alaska and Hawaii, join in a nation-wide appeal for support. Billions of Seals have been distributed in the annual

COMMUNISTS POLITICALLY 'FAR TO RIGHT'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

One of the most logical minds I know is possessed by my colleague, Howard Blakeslee, science editor for the A.P. He is so logical as to be almost terrifyingly to less tidy mentalities.

Every once in a while he breaks away from his atomic theories and takes a critical view of foreign affairs, applying the same cold reasoning he devotes to his science. Frequently I get the product of his analyses, generally in the form of a note or letter, delivered by messenger although Blakeslee's quarters are only a few steps from my desk. The latest is the following:

"Dear Sir:

"May I suggest that your column take time out to state the right and left of things?

Reds Far To Right

"The Russians, for example, are farther to the right—politically and socially speaking—than any other great nation, and probably than any small country, even those with absolute potentates for governors.

"Russia is governed by a small aristocracy, the Communists. By the largest estimates these Russian Communists are not more than four per cent of the Russian people. They form a tight aristocracy—tighter than the traditional aristocracies that were based on inheritance.

"Their government is despotic. It is as despotic as that of the traditional despots.

Possibly the extreme rightism of the Russians is not surprising. For generations they were governed despotically by Czars. They haven't changed. They still have the same sort of extreme right government.

U. S. Far To Left

"By comparison, the United States, Britain, France, any great nation you can name, are far to the left."

Does it give you a shock to be told that what you have been calling "left" is really "right?"

The terms "left" and "right," as used politically, originated long ago in Europe. In many parliaments the designation of "right" was applied to the conservatives and monarchists who sat at the right of the presiding officer. Their opposition, the so-called liberals, sat on the other side of the officer, and so were termed the "left."

Confusing Terms

On this basis we see, as Blakeslee indicates, that the further we go to the right, the closer we come to the despotism. The further we swing to the left the nearer we approach "democracy," which is rule by the majority. Bolshevism, which is the modern Russian version of Mrs. Guy Sanders visited Joseph Storm at St. Charles college, Catonsville, Md., last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanders

Communism, is rule by a small minority, although the term "Bolshevism" actually means majority.

Thus we arrive at the conclusion that the greater the restrictions placed upon the individual by government, the further we swing to the right and the further away we get from democracy. The greater our democracy the more we swing to the left.

And the moral of all this? Well, I should say it is to exercise care in employing the terms "left" and "right." The safest way is to be specific and say "democracy" or "absolutism."

PLUR ACTION DELAYED

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—Action by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board on a number of cases involving non-employee picketing charges was delayed today by a ruling of the state Supreme court. The court threw out a 1947 amendment to the state Labor Relations act which made it unlawful for persons to picket establishments if they are not employed there.

DROWNS IN RIVER

Lancaster, Pa., March 24 (AP)—A rowboat on the Susquehanna river capsized, causing the death of one occupant and marooning his companion on a rock for three hours.

M. M. Carr, 20, of Darlington, Md., was identified as the man drowned yesterday, Curtis Tomlinson, 20, also of Darlington, Md., was rescued. Both were employed at the Holtwood plant of the Pennsylvania Water and Power Co.
